European Vacation Trip for 1907-$400

From $650 to $1000 is usually asked for this trip!

Dr David H Holmes, PHD, who has covered the ground several times, would like to communicate immediately with gentlemen and ladies desiring to do Naples, Rome, Florence, Venice, Milan, Switzerland, the Rhine, Cologne, Paris, and London, and many intermediate points, in order to form a congenial party of not exceeding ten persons, at the extremely low rate of $400. First class accommodations on first class steamers and first class hotels are included, including all necessary expenses and tips, excepting laundry and excess baggage. The trip will be characterized by little luggage, leisure, and large liberty. Dr Holmes, who also has a working knowledge of German and French, believes from his experience that he can make a dollar go as far in Europe as anybody, and is thoroughly conversant with the details at every point. Arrangements must be closed before January in order to secure accommodations because of the usual summer rush to Europe.

WE offer you a new book for first-year Latin study—the fruit of Mr. Barss's dozen or more years' experience as Latin master in the Hotchkiss School. BEGINNING LATIN is a new departure in its method. Dedicated "to teachers who realize the importance of first-year work," "its aim is definitely to secure three things: (1) Mastery of forms, (2) the nucleus of a working vocabulary, and (3) a grasp of the broad principles of the Latin sentence."

Many simple exercises in the building of paradigms are introduced. There are supplementary exercises for class drill. Every fifth Not on Old Lines. Lesson is a Latin Reading Lesson. The vocabularies of the Lessons proper are almost entirely confined to five hundred of the commonest words in Caesar. The last eight Reading Lessons and Lessons 92-95 are introductory to Caesar.

The book is now ready, an attractive volume of practically developed exercises and reading lessons, printed in open, clear typography, and with effective illustrations, 330 pages, $1.00.

Shall we send you a 64-page booklet containing sample pages, giving collectively a distinct idea of the method of the book?

FOR second-year study in Latin, we offer you an edition of Caesar which has features of special interest and value. TOWLE & JENKS' CAESAR'S GALLIC WAR embodies the results of many years' experience of two able teachers. in the class rooms of a leading New York City High School. It is adapted to the needs of the average pupil. The notes give him needful assistance, but nothing more. The numerous illustrations, maps, plans, etc., are of helpful interest.

One peculiar feature distinguishes this book from all others: In an Appendix of 80 pages it gives a A Unique Feature. complete Syntax of the Gallic War in clear and compact form, in 280 sections, illustrated by sentences from Caesar. The Notes refer to this by section. As a teacher writes us, "the appendix is invaluable; the boys cannot help studying grammar." For further study, references to the standard grammars are added under each heading.

We have two editions: one of Books I-VII, 556 pages, $1.25; another of Books I-IV, 480 pages, $1.00.

THE excellence of method and treatment of BARSS'S WRITING LATIN has won for it hearty commendation from a wide circle of schools, and its adoption by them.

BOOK ONE, 87 pages, 50 cents, provides a rational and helpful treatment of the difficulties which assail the beginner in Second-Year Work. Book Two, 172 pages, 75 cents, is adapted to the requirements of Third and Fourth-Year Work. In both books the skilfully adapted "Hints" preceding the "Exercises" helpfully interpret the technical language of the grammar, without superseding it. Each book is a skilful piece of work, concise, practical, and definite in aim.

The head of the Latin department of a New York City High School distinguished for the excellence ¹⁰⁰ of its Latin work informs us that, since Per Cent. the introduction of Barss's Writing Latin some two years ago, Latin Composition in that school has improved one hundred per cent.

VAGUENESS of aim is responsible for much poor work in Latin. With this in mind, an experienced teacher has made for us four little exercise books—DOTEY'S LATIN EXERCISE BOOKS—one for each of the first four books of the GALLIC WAR. Their aim is to present to the pupil, Something in the form of a definite lesson, just Definite. those matters which may most usefully occupy his preparation period. There are questions, and blanks for written answers. The author is Mr. A. L. Dotey of DeWitt Clinton High School, New York City. They can be used with any Caesar—Book I, 25 cents; Books II, III, IV, 20 cents each.

SOON after TUNSTALL'S CICERO was published, a teacher of Latin in a well-known New England school came into our office and asked to be shown the book. He at once turned to the note on the familiar passage, "crit verendum mihi, ne non hoc potius omnes boni serius a me, quam quisquam crudelius factum esse dicat." He was so impressed by the intelligence and sanity of the help offered the pupil that he investigated the treatment of other passages which baffle the average schoolboy; with the result that he adopted the book for his classes, and has used it continuously since that time.

This book is the work of an accomplished Latinist who is at the same time a teacher of the first rank, A Keen Insight. R. W. Tunstall, Classical Master, Jacob Tome Institute. It shows everywhere a keen insight into the practical needs of a working pupil.

May we help you to a better acquaintance with the merits of the book? We publish two editions: CICERO'S ORATIONS, price $1.20, and SIX ORATIONS OF CICERO (Catilines, Archias, and Manilian Law), price $1.00.

Correspondence is cordially invited from Latin teachers everywhere
